RUNAWAY TEAM HAS EXCITING RUN

Runs Full Length of Broad Street With Many Narrow Escapes

One of the most singular runaways to occur in this city for many months was witnessed by Broad street pedestrians yesterday afternoon, when a team of horses attached to a light wagon belonging to J. T. Harrington of Lost Gulch made a wild dash through the center of the city.

The team became frightened while standing on South Broad street and before the animals could be stopped, they started on a run toward the northern part of the city. On the way down Broad street they narrowly avoided a number of pedestrians and vehicles, but during all of the long run, not an accident occurred and when the team stopped at the foot of Blake street of its own accord, hardly a lump of coal, with which the wagon was loaded, had been spilled.

The street was crowded at the time of the runaway, and that no damage was done is almost beyond explanation.

LENGTHY HAT PINS PRICK CHICAGO ALDERMEN

Gravely Discuss Ordinance to Regulate Length of Head Ornament

CHICAGO, March 1.—The city council tonight deliberated on the following questions:

"Are women's long hatpins, which menace the noses, eyes and faces of other people, a public nuisance?"

"Ought women, despite the danger of hatpins, be allowed to wear them for self protection?"

Alderman Bauler introduced an order requiring the corporation counsel to draw an ordinance restricting the length of hat pins.

"We've an ordinance prohibiting the wearing of large hats at theaters," declared Bauler. "I'm going to teach the women of Chicago that they must stop wearing hat pins a foot and a half long."

Grave silence hovered the delegation in the women's galleries. Then a voice piped out: "Doesn't your wife wear long hatpins?"

"No, you bet she does not. She would not do such a thing," shouted Bauler.

"Oh, you women of Chicago! Don't you ever consider when you get into a crowded car with a long hatpin that you are endangering the faces of all of us men?"

The women, however, had prepared an answer in the shape of a letter which pleaded for long hatpins as a weapon of defense.

The council referred the resolution to a committee.

Costly Cob Pipes
The Missouri meerschaum, or cob pipe, is esteemed by many smokers as the best and sweetest smoking pipe to be had. These who are of the more fastidious sort of persons and who have looked on the old cob as a pipe entirely beneath them because of its lack of aesthetic values, may now turn to it and enjoy its consolation, for the cob is now made with amber mouthpieces and other adornments which enhance its price until one may pay $7.50 or even more for a pipe made from the common corn cob. Related to the pipe on account of its humble origin, is the Boer calabash pipe. The department of agriculture has thought it worth while to issue a special bulletin on the calabash pipe. This pipe is not an inexpensive article. It costs from $8 to $12, and although the Boers have sought to prevent the exportation of the seeds of the gourd vine producing the material for the calabash pipe, there is now a supply of seed in this country and the department of agriculture is prepared to give information (in circular 41 of the bureau of plant industry) on how to get the seeds, grow the plants and make the pipes. It states that "the pipes are graceful and distinctive in shape, no two being exactly alike. They color like meerschaum and are delightful." Hand work is necessary in their manufacture.

A SWOLLEN JAW
is not pretty nor pleasant. Whether it is caused by neuralgia, toothache or accident, Ballard's Snow Liniment will reduce the swelling and relieve the pain. The great and sure cure for rheumatism, cuts, burns, bruises, scalds—any and all aches and pains. Sold by Palace Pharmacy.

GARAGE FIRE FROM UNKNOWN CAUSE

Dr. Kennedy's Motor House Burned and Residence Threatened

Fire of unknown origin, but which was apparently caused either by spontaneous combustion or as the result of the careless handling of matches by children, destroyed the garage of Dr. R. B. Kennedy, at Mesquite and Sutherland streets, yesterday afternoon, causing a loss of about $150.

But for the prompt action of the fire department, the blaze would have seriously damaged Dr. Kennedy's home, as the rear porch was on fire when the department arrived. The house was not damaged appreciably. The garage was a total loss.

There was no one at home when the fire started and the flames had gained considerable headway before they were discovered. Dr. Kennedy's automobile was out of the garage at the time and the loss, other than the destruction of the building, a small structure, came as the result of the incineration of two trunks, an automobile top and a quantity of automobile tools.

Give it a good eat, then take Pape's Diapiesin to start the digestive juices working. There will be no dyspepsia or belching of gas or eructations of undigested food; no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach or heartburn, sick headache and dizziness, and your food will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors.

A NOTE TO THE PUBLIC

Globe, Arizona, March 1, 1910.

Editor Silver Belt,
Dear Sir: I wish to state, in matter of explanation, that I sincerely regret the personal difficulty I was obliged to have with one Henry Lewin and a Mr. Johnson. I could no longer endure their false statements and accusations. Both of the gentlemen are colored people.

You all know me to be an industrious and law abiding citizen. I have no trouble with any white citizens; I desire to do right and I want to see men of my race do the same. I am extremely sorry that this occurrence took place, and if it results to their benefit I am satisfied with what I have done, and feel perfectly justified in teaching them an important lesson.

Very respectfully,
ALVIN BOOTH.

Send some of the Special Mining Editions of the Silver Belt to your friends abroad. A few left at the low price of 25 cents each.

Moving a Town

It is no unheard of thing for families who have lived in a house until it is neither clean nor habitable to overcome the difficulty by moving into another dwelling; but it is much less common to hear of a whole community adopting the same plan. This, however, was the method by which the Japanese solved the problem of providing sanitary accommodations for the inhabitants of a filthy and unsanitary town.

When the Japanese assumed control of the island of Formosa they had to meet the same difficulties that confronted our own government in some of the Cuban cities just after the war with Spain. In Formosa, as in Cuba, the centers of population were for centuries breeding places for pestilence, without even the rudiments of a sanitary system.

The Japanese at once turned their attention to remedying conditions from which their own soldiers as well as the ordinary inhabitants must inevitably have suffered.

The task, everywhere difficult, seemed to have been deemed at first impossible of accomplishment in at least one instance. Teukcham, an important center of trade, was found too dirty to be made even moderately healthful. It was decided that it would be cheaper and easier to remove the inhabitants to another site. Accordingly the forty thousand people of Teukcham were ordered to prepare for removal from the infected and swampy ground on which the town then stood, and to take up their abode on a hillside several miles away.

Here streets were laid out corresponding to those of the old town. Every property owner received a plot of land similar in size and position to that which belonged to him before the change. The new town was provided with sewers, railroads, sidewalks, public buildings, water works, and other improvements, all supplied at the expense of the government.

The transfer was effected within twelve months, and that without any great individual loss or hardship.

Have the Pitch Hot

Senator McCreary told a story of a circus coming to a town in Kentucky, and all of the colored folks were wild to see it, except the Rev. Peter Jefferson, who exhorted against it. But, when the circus came in, the violent preacher was conspicuously present at the evening performance and he was excitedly interested in all of it.

"Why, Uncle Pete," inquired one of his white friends, "how come you to be here?"

"Law, Marse John, I is you-mill-yated to be here. But, as de shepherd o' de flock I got my eyes on every one o' dese on-Christian pop-eyed niggers. I'll make 'em smell fire an' brimstone nex' Sunday."—Pittsburg Gazette.
